REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF WESTMORELAND LIBRARY.

The duties appertaining to the position as trustees of our library the past year have in one respect been made pleasant with the evidence that the interest in our library is increasing, and with it the gratification of the belief that greater benefit will result in consequence thereof.

We have been disappointed in our desire that every family in town should have a copy of our catalogue. For the good of our library, we deem it to be the wiser course to pursue, to refrain in this place to utter complaint or to prefer charges, however merited they might be, although in so doing we might relieve ourselves of unjust censure. We have been enabled, with the appropriation given us by the town at our last annual meeting, to add 96 volumes to our library, and pay the incidental expenses attendant to the running of the same.

The welfare of our growing library will demand, in the near future, more commodious room than most private dwellings can furnish. More room would make the duties of the librarian easier and the work more efficient.

We believe that our townspeople have occasion to feel a justifiable pride in their library, and look upon it as an educational force, entertaining in its character and elevating in its influence. We cherish the hope that it may in the future be blessed with the same liberal appropriations as in the past.

During the year we have purchased the following 96 volumes, to which we add the library number, viz :

Concerning All of Us, 817. Sir Walter Raleigh, 818. Cause of the Ice Age, 819. Donald and Dorothy, 820. Sybil Knox, 821. Col. Starbottle, 822. African Farm, 823. Three Fates, 824. Masterpieces of American Literature, 825. Question of Silver, 826. Marvellous Country, 827. Bismarck, 828. Founders of Empires, 6 vols., 829-35. Diary of George M. Dallas, 836. Mansfield Park, 837. Pride and Prejudice, 838. Art of Entertaining, 839. Strange People's Country, 840. Reveries of a Bachelor, 841. Dorothy L. Dix, 842. Surveyor's Guide, 843. Steel Square, 844. Little Minister, 845. Miracles of Our Saviour, 846. Rowery in Boston, 847. REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

To the citizens of the school district of the town of Westmoreland :

Your school board submits the following report for the year ending March 1, 1893.

Schools have been maintained during the year as follows : Nos. 1, 3, 8, 9, 10 and 11 have each had a summer term, a fall term, and a winter term, of 10 weeks each term, except No. 3, whose winter term was shortened 7-10 of a week by the illness of the teacher. No. 5 has had a summer term and a winter term, of 10 weeks each term. No. 12 has had a summer term and a fall term, of 10 weeks each term ; and No. 3 primary has had a fall term of 10 weeks ; making 80 weeks of summer school, 80 weeks of fall school, and 69 3-10 weeks of winter school ; amounting in the aggregate to 229 3-10 weeks of schooling ; an increase of 24 weeks over last year. The whole number of pupils who have attended school is 166 ; an increase of 16 over the number reported last year. The schools have all been kept by female teachers, with the exception of the winter term of No. 3.

The names of teachers appear elsewhere in this report, and so are not repeated in the annexed table. The table gives No. 3 primary, 9 pupils ; 18 actually attended, but 9 of them belonged to the a. b. column. Nos. 1 and 10 also had 1 pupil each belonging to the a. b. column.

The number of pupils over fifteen years who have attended school is 34, and the number over sixteen is 21. It is highly commendable that pupils should continue in school as long as their circumstances will allow. As they advance in years their reasoning faculties take the place of mechanical repetition, and they know the why and wherefore, and better comprehend the purpose of the studies they pursue. The schools, aa a whole, have been above the average in quality, while some have been excellent.

A serious obstacle to the best success of our schools is the multiplicity of text books. It should not be tolerated beyond the earliest practicable time for its removal. An urgent requirement also for the safe keeping of the school books in a bookcase, of some kind, for each school room. The waste from lost and removal of books, for lack of proper keeping, is an item of no inconsiderable account. These things will not impose a burdensome expense, and we trust the district will see it is economy in the long run. We should guard against slackness in managing the district affairs so far as is compatible with human imperfection. It has its influence inside the school room as well as outside.

Money paid for the conveyance of pupils is a unique and peculiar application of the public taxes, and should be paid out with particular consideration.

It is not necessary here to enter into the details of all the influences which make or mar a school. The wholesome influence of prudent speech pervading all the environments of a school is vital to the harmonious working of the school machinery, and without which the best directed efforts of school board or teacher cannot attain to the highest result.

Our motto in securing teachers should be, "get the best," but we should not judge a teacher as sailors do an approaching ship, by the "cut of her jib," but should temper our judgment with justice and moderation. Visit the school and see what your boy or girl is doing. It will be an inspiration to the teacher and will do good all along the line. The old fashioned rule, "obedience, dilligence and truth," has not yet lost its virtue for the youth of today.

We should ever bear in mind that the grand and ultimate object of our common schools is to educate the rising generation to good citizenship, and that the cordial coöperation of all good citizens to that end is our highest duty.

Repairs will be necessary the ensuing year on Nos. 3, 10 and 12, which will require an expenditure of at least three hundred dollars. The school board respectfully recommend the appropriation of that sum. They would also recommend the appropriation of twelve hundred dollars for schools, the same as last year.
